Native American and Global Indigenous Studies

UNIVERSITY
OF MIAMI

OPEN-RANK, OPEN-FIELD FACULTY POSITION IN NATIVE AMERICAN & GLOBAL INDIGENOUS STUDIES (NAGIS), COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Transforming Lives

The University of Miami is among the top research universities and academic medical centers in the nation, and one of the largest private employers in South Florida.

With more than 16,000 faculty and staff, the University strives for excellence, and is driven by a powerful mission to transform and impact the lives of its students, patients, members of the community, and people across the globe.

The University is committed to fostering a culture of belonging, where everyone feels valued and has the opportunity to add value. Through values of Diversity, Integrity, Responsibility, Excellence, Compassion, Creativity, and Teamwork (DIRECCT) the U community works together to create an environment driven by purpose, excellence, community, and service.

The University of Miami Working Group in Native American and Global Indigenous Studies (NAGIS) is pleased to announce a tenure-track or tenure eligible position (Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor) in Native American and/or Global Indigenous Studies beginning on August 15, 2022. The search is open to scholars of any rank, specializing in any region or period, working in any of the disciplines comprising the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS). Comparative, interdisciplinary, hemispheric, and/or global perspectives on indigeneity and Indigenous Studies are particularly welcomed.

The successful candidate will join an appropriate academic department within the College of Arts and Sciences and play a key role in the creation of a curriculum and associated program in Native American and Global Indigenous Studies. The successful candidate will also strengthen existing faculty and programming in NAGIS across the university through excellence in research, teaching, and service, including sustained community engagement and outreach. The expected teaching commitment is two courses per semester. The successful candidate should demonstrate creativity and technological sophistication in teaching and mentoring students. In addition, to be eligible for this appointment, candidates must hold a Ph.D. by July 31, 2022.

Applications should be submitted via the UM Careers website at https://umiami.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UMFaculty and shall include:

- Cover letter
- Current curriculum vitae
- Brief document describing your plans for future research
- Document describing your teaching philosophy
- Document explaining your commitment to diversity
- Contact information for three references

Please compile the above-mentioned application documents in a single PDF and upload under the Resume/CV section of the online application. Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. Preliminary interviews are expected to be conducted via Zoom during the week of December 13, 2021. Inquiries, requests for information, and nominations can be sent to nagis@miami.edu.

The University of Miami is an Equal Opportunity Employer - Females/Minorities/Protected Veterans/Individuals with Disabilities are encouraged to apply. Applicants and employees are protected from discrimination based on certain categories protected by Federal law. Click here for additional information.

Learn more at https://nagis.as.miami.edu/